ALSO AVAILABLE
EDGE BAND

Edge banding in laminate involves applying a thin strip of material to the raw edges of laminate panels, providing a polished finish while protecting against damage and moisture.

ALSO AVAILABLE
STENCIL

Stenciling in laminates involves applying intricate designs or patterns to the surface, adding a unique decorative element that enhances visual interest and customization in furniture and interiors.

WHY
EDGE
BAND

Edge banding is essential in laminates as it enhances aesthetic appeal by providing a finished look to raw edges. It improves durability by protecting against moisture and wear, thereby extending the lifespan of furniture. Additionally, it creates a seamless transition between surfaces, ensuring a smooth appearance. Finally, with various colors and finishes available, edge banding offers customization options to match or contrast with the laminate design.

FAQS

Reasons for air bubble formations on Acrylic Sheets

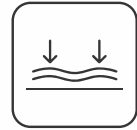

Acrylic are bonded in extremely humid conditions

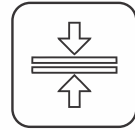

Use of water base synthetic resin adhesive any other than PEVA (Polyethylene Vinyl Acetate Co-polymer)

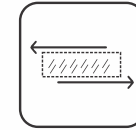

When substrate loses moisture after installation

Debonding in certain areas because of uneven substrate surface

Insufficient or lack of pressing during the bonding period of laminate

Use of extremely large acrylic/PVC laminate sheets

To avoid delamination / air bubbles in between ply and laminate the above steps should be taken care of. Bonding of acrylic sheets shouldn't be completed under high humidity.
